Practitioner's Doctorate

The Practitioner's Doctorate degree programmes offered are aimed at further enhancing professionals in 3 specific vocational fields, namely business administration and management (D.B.A. and D.Man.), teaching and education (Ed.D.), as well as psychology (Psy.D.).

EIU-Paris provides two routes to pursuing and completing its Practitioner's Doctorate degree programmes, namely:

Doctorate Through Research/Thesis (DTR)

Doctorate Through Publication (DTP)

Honorary Doctorate by WHED UNESCO listed University

Honorary Doctorate is an esteemed recognition bestowed upon individuals who have made a significant contribution in their respective fields of work. It is a distinction that is not based on academic qualifications or research, but rather on the individual's professional accomplishments and impact on society.

Recipients of Honorary Doctorate degrees are selected based on their outstanding achievements in fields such as science, arts, literature, philanthropy, and social activism. These individuals are recognized for their significant contributions to society, as well as their unwavering commitment to improving the world around them.

Doctor Of Philosophy (PhD)

PhD program is a terminal degree that focuses on advanced research and scholarly work in a specific field. It is designed to prepare students for careers in academia, research, or other specialized professions.

Professional Doctorate (PD) via VAE

All PD candidates are processed via a process called VAE. VAE stands for "Validation des Acquis de l'Expérience," which is a French term for the recognition of prior learning and experience.

A PD as offered by EIU-Paris is a type of doctoral award that typically focuses on practical applications of a particular field. The PD award can indeed be considered an honorary award, as it recognizes the recipient's advanced knowledge and expertise in their field. In many cases, individuals who hold a Professional Doctorate award are entitled to use the title "Dr." in front of their name.
